

Director's Report August 2023

Staff had a zoom call with David Vinjumari about the space audit and we had a special staff meeting to discuss. We are trying to make some small changes that he suggested and planning for larger changes.

One of our senior patrons took a fall in the parking lot. Everyone jumped into action, including a patron who is NP. 911 was called and we scrambled to get the AED machine, gauze and blankets to cover her. Luckily, she came around before we didn't need to use the AED machine. She was transported by ambulance to the hospital and her husband followed in his vehicle.

We revised the job description a bit to reflect some additional tasks that Kate has undertaken and posted the opening to all the usual places; NH, Maine and MA library job sites along with Simmons and Rhode Island library schools.

Lise McNaughton from LM Land Design came and reviewed the front lawn and put together a landscaping plan that will help to block the sounds from the road.

We cleaned out the cabinets in the meeting room, kitchen and some areas of the basement and donated 31 boxes of stuff to the PACE donation drive. Jaye Dimando came and retrieved what she wanted for the seniors; Linda and June went through all the Friends stuff and removed what they wanted and the thrift shop boxed up some items they weren't selling.
